BODY OF BAY ST. LOUIS YOUTH FOUND DECAPITATED

20-YEAR OLD VICTIM OF FATALITY ON LOCAL R. R. TRACK AT DEPOT SUNDAY

Curtis Ladner of Bay St. Louis Decapitated by Train No. 4 From New Orleans—No One Saw Accident Hence No Eye Witness to Tragedy—Resident Sees Body On Track Bed as Train Pulls Out.

Curtis Ladner, aged 20, of Bay St. Louis, was the victim of a tragic death on the local railroad tracks, Bay St. Louis depot premises, Sunday morning, when his body was found after Train No. 4, from New Orleans, and due at about 10:30 o'clock, had pulled out. The head had been entirely severed from the body and was found after apparently having been dragged for many yards, according to the line of blood evidence found along the tracks.

John Buehler, local resident, and well-known contractor and builder, said he had his car parked at the approach to the railroad crossing south of the depot and was awaiting the train to pull out in order he may continue on.

"I watched the train pull out," he said, "in a casual way and imagine my horror when I saw the body of a man lying prone to the ground and with all evidence that he had just been killed by the train. I quickly alighted from my car. In the meantime others soon saw what I did and with all care possible we picked up the severed body and head and tenderly laid the remains on the depot terrace, toward the New Orleans or south end. The express and baggage truck was nearby and we placed the body under its chassis in order to shield it from the sun and exposure as well as public gaze. We took newspapers that were at hand and even though the supply was short we covered the remains as much as possible. In the meantime, to our horror, we did not take long to recognize that the body was that of young Ladner, even though his face was covered with coal dust and sand."

How the accident occurred no one knew. For no one saw it. All inquiry possible failed to find an eye-witness. It is apparent, young Ladner attempted to board the train, which is not thought probable, for he had planned to go nowhere; if so, he attempted to do so on the side of the train opposite from the passenger station. However, regardless of what happened, it is evident he was on the 'other side' of the train. For while they were onlookers on 'this side' of the train no one saw anyone get off or on. Save for the decapitation of the head, the body was not bruised or injured to the extent that would naturally be supposed. A pair of eye glasses, reposing in the outer pocket of the shirt he wore, remained unbroken.

When Last Seen

Curtis Ladner was in the employ of the Bell Telephone and Telephone Company, however, at the time of his death, he was on a sick leave of several weeks, convalescing from the effects of a recent automobile accident. His personal belongings were packed ready to resume work Monday morning.

When last seen he was sitting on a "swing bench" on the front porch of his father's dwelling, No. 217 (Continued on page 5)

Hotel Reed Activities.

Mr. and Mrs. Tom Richardson are back at the hotel this week, and are seen on the hotel pier at 5 A. M. fishing.

Mrs. Adeline McHugh and her family are registered at the hotel, enjoying a little vacation away from New Orleans.

Other distinguished guests include Mr. and Mrs. Volleweider, Jr., of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. P. Chappuis of Crowley, La.; Mrs. Morgan Gurley and Mrs. Arthur Dicks of New Orleans; Mr. and Mrs. E. Molinet of Havana, Cuba who will reside for several months and their two children will attend school in Bay St. Louis. Mr. and Mrs. Frank Davis of New Orleans; Mr. J. H. Edwards (coffee broker) New Orleans, does quite a bit of fishing aboard his yacht every weekend. Mrs. R. Commander is another Hotel Reed's guest for a week. Mr. and Mrs. Reed have just returned from New Orleans, accompanied by Mrs. Mitchell, their daughter-in-law.

AIRPORTS

The WPA has undertaken 940 airport projects at the end of the last fiscal year, with the Federal Government providing about ninety per cent of the $70,000,000 involved.

SCHOOL TRUSTEES MEETING

Prof. M. A. Phillips Resigns—Appoint Full-Time Commercial Teacher

The City School Board of Trustees met in regular monthly meeting, Thursday evening of last week at Central High School. Among other important matters discussed, was the appointment of Miss Clara Reed, of Starkville, Miss., as full-time commercial teacher. Miss Reed is a graduate of M. S. C. W. at Columbus, and recently taught in Sarasota, Florida.

Also received and accepted by the Board, at this meeting was the resignation of Mr. Milton A. Phillips, teacher of the seventh and eighth grades and high school Spanish, for several sessions past. At this writing the position left vacant by Mr. Phillips' resignation has not been filled.

The following were omitted from the list of teachers in the last edition of this paper: Miss Clara Eley, Mathematics teacher and Miss Bessie Givens, English teacher.

City Superintendent S. J. Ingram announces that the Dickson Drug Company, opposite A. & G. Theater, has been made the city and county depository for school text books and anyone wishing to purchase same will please act accordingly.

The subject of vocational education was discussed at length, and plans are going forward rapidly for its regular introduction into our local school system, already one of the finest anywhere.

Many material improvements in and around the school building and grounds are being outlined for the near future.

ADDED ATTRACTION AT UNCLE CHARLIE'S FOR SATURDAY NIGHT

Of interest to the amusement-loving public, home folk and many visitors that now through the Coast sections, is the announcement by the management of Uncle Charlie's Nite Club for this Saturday night, August 28.

Miss Gertrude "Rissie" Miller, the "Miss New Orleans of 1937," who will represent that city at the forthcoming American Beauty Pageant at Atlantic City, will appear in person. First in evening gown and later during the evening in bathing suit review staging.

Miss Miller will not only add to the evening's pleasure and interest by her charming and most engaging personality but will sing selections, accompanied by Al Durning's Dukes of Rhythm, which orchestra will discuss the dance music for the evening.

Mr. Breath was especially fortunate in securing Miss Miller's appearance in Bay St. Louis due to the fact of the limited time at her disposal for she is scheduled to go to Hollywood for a professional test and most probable contract. Gifted and glamorous, Miss Miller has quite a career ahead, knowing ones say.

Ladies will be admitted free. Gentlemen, $1.00 plus tax.

Sylvester J. Ladner Marries Mrs. Pecoul; Reside At Miss. City.

Sylvester J. Ladner, former Bay St. Louis resident, and station agent for the Louisville & Nashville R. R. at Mississippi City for a long number of years and Mrs. Eunice Edwards Pecoul, of Theodore, Ala., were married at Gulfport this week. The Rev. H. A. Spengler, pastor of the Catholic church at that place, performed the ceremony. They will reside at Mississippi City.

BUENA VISTA HOTEL TO BE SOLD UNLESS DEBT IS SATISFIED.

Court Says Biloxi Company Must Settle $50,000 Obligation—Owe R. F. C.

A press intelligence from Biloxi says that the Buena Vista hotel at Biloxi will be sold under a mortgage foreclosure on or before September 15 unless it pays the Reconstruction Finance Corporation an indebtedness of approximately $50,000, according to a vacate decree rendered by Chancellor D. M. Russell at Gulfport.

The mortgage on the hotel was first ordered foreclosed more than two years ago when the Buena Vista Corporation allegedly defaulted on loans obtained from the finance corporation, but more time was granted by agreement to give the receivers opportunity to work out a refinancing plan. Eugene Peresich and Glen Swetman of Biloxi were appointed receivers when the hotel corporation was placed in receivership.

In addition to the RFC indebtedness, the property was sold for city, county and state taxes, but in the last provision was made for the receivers to redeem the property from city tax sales by the payment of $10,000 and the complainant would make the county and state redemptions totaling about $13,000. According to reports filed by court officials, the redemptions had been made.

Eustis McManus was appointed special commissioner to conduct the sale on September 15 unless a refinancing plan has been worked out in the meantime. The Buena Vista ranks as a leading coast hotel.

OUTLOOK FOR BUSY YEAR

Is Report of Executives of Central School P. T. A.—Street Cakewalk Benefit For September 2.

A meeting of members of the executive board of Central School Parent-Teachers' Association was held at Bay High School Wednesday afternoon, Mrs. A. T. Terry, president, presiding, with the committee chairman.

The number present included Mrs. W. S. Speer, vice president; Mrs. Townsend Wolfe, Mrs. Leo W. Seal, Mrs. Theodore T. Robin, Mrs. James H. Sylvester, Mrs. C. C. McDonald, Mrs. Harold E. Weston.

Plans were discussed for the work to be accomplished during the forthcoming school term, with marked evidence of substantial enthusiasm that bespeaks a year of activity and results.

Lunches to be Served

Plans were discussed and the decision made to sponsor a school lunch room. Miss Rita Nunez will be the manager. Pay lunches will be most reasonable at 25 cents per week. The underprivileged children will be designated by the sponsor and provided with the necessary tickets.

Lunches will be served hot; substantial and a menu of varied foods, properly balanced, will be served in the lunch room, which at present is being prepared and equipped for service the beginning of school term.

Supt. Ingram's Co-Operation.

A high spot of the proceedings of the meeting was the interesting and co-operative message of City Superintendent of Schools S. J. Ingram. He thanked the P. T. A. for the splendid work accomplished and interest manifested. He again not only pledged his own support and co-operation but also that of members of the faculty. The interest on their part has been and will continue to be of most vital importance, it was stated, and Mr. Ingram's enthusiastic attitude is certainly a substantial boost to the cause.

Next Thursday night, September 2, was the date selected for the presentation of a "cake walk" as a P. T. A. benefit, at the head of Main street, in front of the Beach Drug Store and also the Hancock County Bank premises.

There will be fifty cakes given away, one for each walk. The price for participation in the walk will be 10 cents per person. This unusual entertainment is promising of much pleasure and interest and it is a foregone conclusion will attract crowds of spectators as well as many participants.

PICAYUNE C. OF C. SEC'Y AT ROTARY

Luncheon On Wednesday—Speaks of International Convention Held At Nice, France.

B. C. Cox, secretary of the Picayune Chamber of Commerce, was guest-speaker at the regular luncheon meeting of the Bay St. Louis Club Wednesday at Hotel Reed. The visiting speaker is a prominent Rotarian, member of the Picayune Rotary Club, attending the International Convention of Rotary, Nice, France, as a representative of that club. He came here upon invitation from the local club to make a brief report on the convention held at Nice. This discussion was opened with a detailed outline of his experiences in preparing for the voyage, and the trip to New York where final preparations were made through the courtesy of the officials stationed there by Rotary International.

Rotarian Cox fortified himself before leaving America with letters of introduction from the Secretary of State to American Ambassadors in Europe, this proved of material assistance to him in going places and seeing Europe. Through this courtesy he was admitted to a session of parliament, which was one of the features of this tour. He described Nice, France, as the "city of flowers," and that it really is the beautiful city. This town is located on the Mediterranean Sea, and was the headquarters for this great gathering of representatives of Rotary from 82 countries of the world. Rotarian Cox stated that there were 8,000 delegates in attendance, 4,000 coming from the United States. For this reason most of the proceedings at the convention were carried on in English.

The theme of the convention was "International Good Will, Friendship and Fellowship Among the People of All Nations." The aim of Rotary International as expressed by its President was to spread the wings of Rotary to every village in the world, and to fill all classifications.

The report on the convention by Rotarian Cox proved to be of much interest.

NEWS FROM BAY SCOUT DELEGATE

To International Girl Scout Camp in N. Y. State—Miss Griffith Soon to Return Home.

Latest news from Scout Caroline Griffith, Bay St. Louis' delegate to the International Girl Scout Camp, from the Dixie Region, is to the effect that the camp at Briar Cliff Manor, N. Y., in its every sense was a definite success.

This week the entire membership of the camp is entertained at Pine Tree Camp, Buzzard Bay, Mass., by Mrs. James Storror of Boston.

The regular camp consisted of an attendance of seventy-two girl scouts from every section of the United States and thirty-one girls representing as many different foreign countries. Two of Caroline's tent mates were from Finland and Estonia, respectively.

On Tuesday, August 10 the camp was visited by Mrs. Franklin D. Roosevelt, who delivered a talk to the girls. News-reel photos were taken and one of Caroline's classmates saw her "in the movies" in New Orleans last week. The scouts are anxious to see this film shown at our local theater.

After a short visit in New York City with friends next week, Caroline will get home on September 5th and will have many interesting things to tell of Scouting over the world.

"We are looking forward to a very profitable and interesting year," said one of the executives in official capacity, and urge every parent to unite with the organization so they may give and receive of its benefits."

Incidentally, it is not amiss to remind the public of the cake walk benefit for September 2, and that everybody is invited to be present and to participate.

BILOXI CHAMBER OF COMMERCE TO AID FOR DOUBLE BLVD.

Promises to Assist Highway Department in Obtaining Right of Way On Beach.

The Biloxi Chamber of Commerce directors Monday night pledged their aid in obtaining a right-of-way for the proposed new highway along the Gulf beach of Harrison county—extending from Biloxi to Henderson Point, all in Harrison county.

They agreed to assure Governor White that everything will be done to aid city and county officials in obtaining the right-of-way in order that the oft-proposed double beach boulevard from Biloxi through Gulfport and Pass Christian on to Henderson Point, on the Bay of St. Louis to care for the constantly-increasing traffic, which will be heavier than ever next year with the opening of the new State Highway that will extend, all hard surfaced, from Memphis thru Jackson and Hattiesburg to the Mississippi Gulf Coast.

The beach highway at present is inadequate to carry the local and heavy thru traffic of Highway 90 and the building of the present beach road into a double highway will be of necessity and of importance to this entire coast section. Gov. White and Highway Department are in full accord with the project and it is well that the Coast co-operate in order to bring forth this improvement to a reality as early as possible. It is quite a gigantic task and will take time but can be done. Funds for this work is available, it was authoritatively stated.

COLLEGE, CONVENT TO OPEN

Regular Academic Sessions Early Days of September—Report Increased Enrollment.

President Bro. William has been in New Orleans this week with head quarters at the Roosevelt Hotel, New Orleans, registering students for the forthcoming session of St. Stanislaus College. Reports are to the effect more names are enrolled than at this time prior to former sessions. St. Joseph Academy will reopen with an increased enrollment, according to reports from the office of the mother superior.

Registration of pupils will take place September 7 and 8. Regular session will begin September 9. Prospective students and others who have not as yet registered are asked to do so on the dates above indicated.

Members of the faculty have not as yet been assigned to their respective classes but will within the next few days, it was stated. Mother Superior Evelyn was recently re-assigned for another year as head of the local institution which, under her administration, continues to prosper. An increased enrollment substantiates this statement.

WEEKLY NEWS NOTES OF THE LOCAL HOSPITAL

Hotel Reed Opens Cocktail Bar and Salon To Public

A feature of the many improvements in progress and planned for Hotel Reed is the beautiful new cocktail bar and salon, located in that portion formerly used as a solarium, and with two entrances, one in the hotel lobby and the other as a main entrance facing the Old Spanish Trail.

Strictly modernistic and equipped with all new fixtures and furniture, with the rainbow tints predominating, the place was officially opened to guests and the public Wednesday noon and visitors were quick to see the beauty of the place and to recognize the enterprise and progressiveness behind the project that made it possible.

County and City Delinquent Tax Sales In This Issue of Echo

Considerable space of the advertising columns of The Sea Coast Echo this week is occupied by both city and county delinquent tax sales. By comparison with the publication of last year the county list is considerably larger and the city sligher carrying more listings. The list is set in small type and in most compact form to save space and in order to get each listing in one running line where possible.

Since the list has been put in type there are a few of the listings that have been paid and from now on until the last publication a number will subsequently be redeemed, even though the publication will be continued. Number of insertions called for by law is four times, making for three full weeks up to the Friday before the date of sale.

Bay St. Louis' annual beauty show, presented under auspices of Uncle Charlie's Nite Club, proved an unprecedented success in many ways and easily stamped the affair as a feature that has come to stay.

The attendance locally and from away was flattering in the extreme, to the project and management as well. The spacious and attractive appearance of the club was filled to capacity and after the contests dancing until the morning hours.

The beauty contest was divided into two distinct divisions. First the beauties in bathing suits and following the contest participants in evening gowns, a contest that made for two separate entertainments.

Trophy winners were, first, Miss Pearl Legmen of Gulfport and second Miss Prudence Puscatere of New Orleans, bathing beauties.

Contestants in evening gowns were first winner, Miss Aline Gonzales of New Orleans and second Miss Melva Rester of Picayune.

Three judges were selected from the audience, unknown to the contestants hence their judgment was unbiased and free from favor.

Miss Margaret Luft, a gracious and beautiful young lady from New Orleans, guest of Mr. and Mrs. A. Vassalli contributed to the pleasure of the crowd by singing several numbers by special request. Miss Luft won the State of Louisiana and the city of New Orleans prizes in singing contests under the direction of the Philharmonic Society. It is sincerely hoped to have the pleasure of hearing this gifted artist again.

Al Durning's Dukes of Rhythm, well-known swing orchestra played for the dancing, and they will be over again this Saturday, night, August 28th to delight Uncle Charlie's patrons.

Uncle Charlie desires to thank the charming and attractive young ladies who took part in the successful double-header contest last Saturday—also the merchants and patrons of the club who so cheerfully cooperated to make this one of the outstanding events of the season.

Visitors from away as well as home folks were loud in their expressions of satisfaction of the success of the event and all of which not only proves of deserving comment but good advertising for Bay St. Louis. The Echo congratulates Uncle Charlie and his management on the splendid success achieved last Saturday evening.

Town of Long Beach, Miss., Has No Tax Delinquencies Sale

Announcement from Long Beach, on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, proudly announces that for the second consecutive year it has no tax delinquencies and that as a result there will be no delinquent tax sale, according to D. M. Hudgins, tax collector.

This year, the report continues, Tax Collector Hudgins is collecting within the municipality only and the Sheriff's office at Gulfport is collecting the separate school district taxes without the municipality. Last year he collected 95 per cent of the taxes in both the municipality and separate school district. He said the unpaid part of the Long Beach town tax was too small to warrant a tax sale.

CONVALESCING.

Mrs. Henry Lang, daughter of Mr. John Monti, Sr., is convalescing at the home of her relatives in New Orleans, from a major surgical operation performed at Baptist Hospital, New Orleans, and awaiting to recover sufficiently in order she may return to her home in Hancock street, in the near future.

E. J. Arceneaux Sustained Injured Fingers Is Fan

E. J. Arceneaux, proprietor of the Shell Super Service Station at Beach and Court street, sustained painful injury Wednesday afternoon when his left hand was caught in an automobile fan in action. The tips of two fingers were severely cut. He was taken to the King's Daughters Hospital where he received medical attention and the injured members dressed.

OUR SCHOOLS

WITH the approach of September the school season is in the offing.

The first Tuesday after the first Monday of the month is the date announced and it will not be many days that the long, familiar line of students will be seen going to and from schoolhouse.

Bay St. Louis is particularly well equipped with schools, both private and public. In fact far ahead of the average community and as such is recognized not only within local bounds but from away as well.

In addition to the splendid city schools St. Stanislaus College and St. Joseph Academy attract the patronage of many from away and foreign land as well.

Bay St. Louis has frequently been termed a "city of homes." This is true. And well might it be added, a city of schools and churches as well. Elements that go to make for better civilization and better citizens for the future, and establishing a firm foundation for the city we love so well and call home.

The Echo has every reason to believe the enrollment will exceed figures of previous years. Every year local schools turn out large classes, graduates who are thorough in their academic attainments, moral and religious as well as civic training. Who go forth into the world, and, as time has proven, make good.

All praise and support to our schools. May we never for a moment be remiss in the thought of the obligation we owe for their support and successful continuance.

Our schools are the foundation and cornerstone of our country.

Let's hope that school children stage no sit-down strikes this fall.

IN THE SHADOWS.

THE sympathy of the community goes out this week to the family whose happy outlook on life and the serenity of peace and happiness were shadowed Sunday morning when the visitation of the Angel of Sorrow darkened the path of daily pursuit.

One can well feel for the members of a family so sublimely united in the ties that bind and make for the understanding of human kindness and being.

That death leaves a shining mark seems indisputable. Here was a youth who had all to live for. The fond pride and hope of a large family, the joy of those who knew him best and one who gave every promise of a useful and fulsome life; of becoming a useful citizen.

Judge Ladner and his sons and daughters show remarkable fortitude even though crushed as they are. With Christian fortitude and faith they rise from the depths, and hope of the future triumphs over tragedy.

They well know the heart of the community is with them and in this assurance there is lodged consolation and added strength to support the burden. With uplift hands and resignation we can only say to One who giveth and taketh, Thy will be done.

Drive carefully—you can't tell what awaits around the next curve.

FLYBLOWING THE CHURCHES.

EVERY once in a while you run upon a citizen of Bay St. Louis who tries to impress you with the broadness of his religious viewpoint by taking a few pot shots at the churches of the nation. The speaker will tell about helping other human beings in distress, and exhibit every sign of superiority over those who worship in organized churches in the name of their religion.

It is rather seldom that these talkers realize that without the organized churches of the past it is highly improbable that they would know very much about religion. It is worse than that. Without the organized churches of the past it is doubtful if our present civilization would be even vaguely as good as it is. The critics of the church are quite willing to accept the fruits of its work, but they are not always just enough to give credit where it is due.

A generous contribution makes for respectability in almost any organization.

IN THE FAR EAST.

THE Japanese campaign against China, launched with much talk of communism and the necessity of keeping peace in the Far East, has followed the usual routine of one nation trying to take part of the territory of another nation.

There is no excuse whatever for the Japanese offensive, unless the disinclination of the Chinese to be friendly with the people of the nation which has molested them for years, is a cause for warfare.

Just what will be the result of the struggle remains uncertain although there does not seem much prospect for a Chinese victory on the battlefields. However, the Chinese may put up such spirited resistance that the triumph that Japan accomplishes will cost the island empire more than it is worth.

Many a growing business gets to be smaller because the man running it tries to do everything himself.

WHAT AILS THIS SECTION?

THE summer season, as we know it on the Mississippi Gulf Coast, where visitors and others sojourn for the hot months and hie away in droves from the city discomforts, is fast ebbing and coming to an end. Rather abruptly as Labor Day, September 6, will witness. Our seasons of summer activity seem to have dwindled down to a short period of that time extending from July 4 to Labor Day—beginning no earlier to an appreciable extent and ending no later than the first Monday of ninth month. The latter appears to be the dead line. The signal to go back home. To say that the season is fast ebbing and coming to an end, regardless how pessimistic it may sound, in fact that must be faced. Truly a short season. The business man, particularly the merchant, has a brief season, the peak covering possibly six weeks.

While the "season" on the Coast has been one of liberal patronage this year, particularly week-ends, many are of the opinion—and we must agree with them—there were not the usual quota of visitors and sojourners, call them what ever one wishes, as other seasons in the years gone by and as we have the right to expect.

With so many improvements calculated to attract the visitor it seems hard to believe.

Have we not built marvelous roads, connecting the east with the west; contacted New Orleans the major source supplying visitors and others? Have we not constructed the shortest automobile route possible? And we are continuing this seemingly extravagance of building additional "short-cuts" and cutting out other roads as part of the highway. We have brought communities closer, annihilated distance and made it possible to go places in the shortest possible time and in the easiest manner. We have practically placed this section of the Mississippi Gulf Coast at the door of New Orleans with its teeming population of over a half million people.

We have built free bridges for automobiles, taxing ourselves to the point of exasperation and the limit of bankruptcy; we have built seawalls to protect and beautify our shores and spent millions of dollars in this direction.

Our people are hospitable. Gracious and sincere in their welcome and always with an outstretched hand and hearty grasp.

Possibly we have too much competition. Other sections of the Coast offer public pier accommodations, public park and playground facilities, and last but not least advertise their inducements in more ways than one.

Biloxi is a shining example. There is more doing there all the time than at any other coastal point. We are too self-content. We are satisfied with the waters that wash the sands of the beach morning and evening, with the breezes that blow from the gulf and possibly the fishing that attract many—but not all. We add very little, if anything, to the natural resources. We offer little or no entertainment, amusements and particular kinds of recreations.

In all and in brief we fail to advertise. We are too self-centered, self-satisfied and willing to dream on. If this be the way it has proven faulty and in time disastrous.

SUCCESSFUL YOUNG COAST RESIDENT.

CONNECTED in more than ordinary ability with the late Hayden Plumbing and Construction Company at Pass Christian, Bernard C. Knost, young man resident of that city across the Bay, has risen to the heights of business success that registers him among the major lights in the building and business world. After Mr. Hayden passed away and the business was finally disposed of by dissolving the firm, Mr. Knost continued the work of estimating for large contracts and finally established himself to that point where today he is one of the contractors and builders for only large projects. This unaided, of his own initiative and successful consummation.

Personally acquainted with Mr. Knost we have watched his career with more than ordinary interest. By persistence and application and every dealing backed with that spirit of thoroughness and fairness for which he has become widely known, he secured contract after contract. Public projects and private ones as well, regardless of size, were none too large for him. His bids, consistent with good workmanship and material, have been such that invariably he secures the business.

The Echo wishes to compliment this young Coast man and neighbor; we wish to congratulate him and also that he may continue that ladder of success which he has so auspiciously began to ascend.

The latest is that he was low bidder on the one-story knitting mill factory to be erected in Pascagoula, his bid being $113,311.00. Next lowest bid was by Collins Bros. Construction Co., Biloxi, $134,022.00. High bid of $168,223.00 was submitted by Gervais-Favrot, New Orleans, a difference of $45,912.00 between high and low bids, according to press report.

HARMFUL "CHARITY."

KIND-HEARTED citizens, in Bay St. Louis and elsewhere, often take unctious to their souls in the thought that they cheerfully contribute their bits to the relief of any one who comes to them with a tale of woe, or seeks succor for distress.

It would surprise some of these people very much to learn that they are probably making a mistake. More often, they are encouraging a habit of begging, which will make of the recipient a panhandler all his life.

The aim of modern relief is to correct the condition which causes a man, or woman, or a family, to be on the seamy side of want. Very often these circumstances can be so altered as to make the individual or family self-supporting, and enable them to take their place in society as worthy members, earning what they receive.

This is much better than scattering alms wholesale and without wise discrimination. While we would not go so far as to say that all charity should be controlled by social workers, we do assert that most of it should be so expended.

WHAT THE PRESS IS SAYING OF MEN AND MATTERS IN EDITORIAL EXPRESSION

PAT VICTIM OF RUM DEAL FROM NEW DEALER

(Omaha World-Herald)

PAT HARRISON has been more loyal than the king every day since March, 1933. He has gone along with the president whether he believed him or not. He has served, on occasion, as chopping block and whipping post. Once, at least, he cheerfully permitted himself to be made ridiculous in order to spare Mr. Roosevelt some slight embarrassment. No task was too hard, too unpleasant, for him to undertake if "the chief" requested it. No measure or plan was so startling but he would advocate it if it was the president's measure. He supported the court-packing bill, even as "a good soldier." And when his ambition to serve as Senate leader was denied him because the president wanted another, Pat neither sulked nor whimpered. "The Lord giveth and the Lord taketh away; blessed be the name of the Lord." Now, though, he rides in planned protest against the wage-hour bill, and says, "more perhaps, than I should." Senator Wheeler, one the other hand, who led the fight against court-packing, supports the president on this issue. Which is an indication of how criss-crossed lines are at Washington, and also an indication that lawmakers are exercising independent judgment and voting and speaking their convictions. It would appear the battle over the judiciary served one very good purpose. The debate over our form and theory of government emphasized anew that its branches are co-ordinate and independent, including the legislative branch. Legislators will not be so readily subject to command hereafter. To be known as a yes man is no longer a proudly borne distinction. And that represents progress. Pat Harrison's speech may have hurt his own feelings and the president's too. But it constitutes a timely declaration of independence and sets an excellent example.

A Correspondent Draws Two Striking Parallels; Two Rev. Fathers Sorin.

BY AN OBSERVER.

There is a strange dispensation in human life whereby the lives of men in a like sphere of endeavor actually run parallel. History abounds with such incidents. Of local interest in the parallelism between the lives of two priests of the same name, of the same nationality, from about the same place and in the same field of spiritual labor; the one the founder of what came from a log school to the great university of Notre Dame; the other in a local university dedicated to the preservation of the Faith and in the low-land marshes of Mississippi.

In the latter section with its headquarters at Delisle, Miss., there has labored for over forty years a priest of pristine piety, of Pauline faith and Xavierian zeal to preserve the faith of his people and preserve it alight in their hearts from the humble cradle box to the earthy rest in the bayou grave under the weeping bearded live oaks.

America rejoices in the fame of two Father Sorins. The one, the inspirer of Notre Dame in the great north-middle west; the other the Father Sorin of Mississippi the famed missionary of the dreary old bayous. The life of Pere Rene Jos. Sorin of South Mississippi has been a living epitome of a papal Quagmire Anno in itself. From the fair fields afar of heroic La France, sweet and medieval Chartres, came Father Sorin to the fields afar of sweltering Mississippi. His forty years are an epic of priestly fidelity, firm faith, relentless zeal in and for the supreme of all Causes—that of the God-man Jesus Christ, the derided and forgotten Savior of all our human kind.

From all over the United States the question has been asked, even in the smallest hamlet, "Is that Father Sorin of Delisle, Mississippi, a relative to the Very Rev. Edward Sorin, the celebrated founder of Notre Dame University?" Yes, first in Sacred Blood, then in human and kinship.

No one yet has been able to answer the question but there is a striking parallel. Yes, we say relatives!

From the annals of Our Lady of Lourdes, Notre Dame, Indiana, August, 1937, Father Edward Sorin himself, attributed to prayer any success that crowded his efforts, and forty years after he has made the consecration of his life work in the New World to the Blessed Virgin, he wrote, "From that moment I do not remember a single instance of a serious doubt in my mind as to the final result of our endeavors." And he added, "Before I lose faith in prayer, I shall certainly lose my mind."

After 40 years of residence at Delisle, Miss., Rev. Rene Joseph Sorin, after building 12 churches, amongst them Our Lady of Good Hope at Delisle, Our Lady of Lourdes, at Cuevas; Our Lady of Chartres Church at Delmas settlement; was miraculously cured by the Blessed Virgin Mary, an incontestable fact and he attributes it to preaching often on the devotion to our Heavenly Mother.

Any order for Father Sorin's compositions to help him in his poor missions shall be greatly appreciated—Rev. Rene Jos. Sorin, Delisle, Miss.

Government Has No Money of Own--It Is Ours Extorted By Process of Cruel Taxation

From the Somerset (N. J.) Gazette

BEAR in mind, at the beginning, that the Government has no money of its own.

What it spends it first borrows or takes. And from whom does it borrow? From the banks, trust companies, largely, the bulk of its borrowing having lately come from these sources. And where do these get the money? They get it from you—their greater part of it—from their depositors and policy holders. But did you voluntarily lend your savings to the Government for the purpose of paying them out in grants, aids, subsidies? You did not. And yet that is what the banks have done—have had to do, because there was a certain compulsion about it. They couldn't help themselves. The Government wanted the money; it took the money; in effect it took it from you.

How else does the Government get money? It gets several billions a year from excise and community taxes—practically sales taxes; many of them, although when a direct sales tax of 2 per cent is proposed, the people who have to pay it anyhow set up an awful howl. However, as long as they don't see it they don't seem to mind. The list of these indirect and hidden taxes would fill this column; let's skip them. We may note in passing, however, that the name of the tax does not in the least alter the fact that it is you who pay it. We speak of a gasoline tax or an automobile license as if the gasoline or automobile paid it, and all the time it is you who pay it, handing over your money to the state or Federal Government for distribution.

Proceeding, we find that wealthy individuals and corporations pay income taxes, that business houses pay stamp taxes, state and federal, that an aggregate truly appalling is collected in one way and another for the privilege of trading, working, living, dying. Your money, everybody's money, is swept in and then scattered—"appropriated" is the word—for the maintenance of government not only, but for the behoof and enrichment of a swarting plague of bureaus, for relief, social security, light to the people of the Tennessee Valley, for dams in the West and experimental farms in Alaska, and the Lord only knows what else throughout our suddenly prosperous nation. Think of it! During the first three years of the Roosevelt Administration, the total for grants and loans was $21,000,000,000—your money, everybody's money, for the easing of anybody who had nerve enough to hold out his hand.

And now, here in Somerset, we are caught in the net of nationwide financial confusion, and are resolved to get while the getting is good. We step into the line (call it a bread line, or anything else you want to) and receive a thrilling dose of, we forget how many thousands, for the building of a disposal plant—a most desirable improvement—especially when you are being crowned by the State Board of Health. But as everyone knows, we merely take the money out of one pocket and put it into another. It would be far cheaper, and better, to build our own highways, and maintain our own schools, and educate our children, and care for our own poor, provided—and here is the rub—provided, everybody else did the same. But it's too late now. We are on the toboggan, sliding, sliding, with more every year to spend because every year a generous Government takes more and more of your money, and then gives most of it away.

Federal aid? There ain't no such animal. Ask Senator Glass, if you don't believe us. What it means (if anything) is that we aid the Federal Government, which then turns around and graciously gives some of it back to us. As a rule, if any rule can be discovered, the more you give the less you get. We comfort ourselves with the pious reflection that it is more blessed to give than receive, but unless we are incurably dumb, we don't fool ourselves with the idea that we are getting something for nothing.

FOLKS call me "Old Reliable"—guess that's because I've been on the job serving the South so long—eighty-seven years in fact.

We have so much in common, Neighbor, I'd like to get better acquainted with you, but with 5,000 miles of road spread over 13 states and millions of dollars worth of equipment to look after and all—it seems hard to find time to visit with all our friends.

But here's what I really want to say. The biggest job we both have is home-making. Yours, for the care, protection and happiness of your family and community. Ours, for the comfort and pleasure of thousands of families using our railroad—and the dependable moving of everyday commodities. We have much the same problems; food to buy, furniture to replace, taxes to pay, civic duties to perform.

So, if you just think of the L & N as the "Friendly Railroad"—as a home owner, like yourself—a respectable, useful citizen who for nearly a century has had a hand in building towns and cities and industries, helping support schools and churches and highways, giving employment to thousands, well, you'll have a true picture of American Railroads. You'll understand why we proudly call the L & N "Your Home Sweet Home on Rails"—and with your friendship and help we're going to keep right on making that Home safer, more comfortable, more enjoyable.

And Neighbor, here's our hand on it.

an interested critic at the preview of "The Life of Emile Zola" by Stephen L. DeBatta. Mr. DeBatta was a young journalist in Paris in 1898 and helped save Zola's life during the trial of the famous Dreyfus case. He gave his praise to the actors for their characteristics in the screen version and that he was so carried back by scenes that he was almost obliged to leave the theater.

Court street, near beach boulevard front and westward to Courthouse Square, presents quite an animated scene of reconstruction activity. A force of men are working on the new county jail house, completing the first and continuing on the second story. Another force of workers are busy placing huge drainage pipes for the city. The story of which was carried in the Echo columns last week, and in single story dwelling is "raised" in order it may be converted into a two-story dwelling of spacious and handsome proportions by another busy force composed of brick layers, carpenters, painters and plumbers, under contractor John Buehler of Bay St. Louis.

100 GULFPORT, BILOXI HOMES WILL BE SOLD

Business Properties, Beach Front Lots and Home Sites Listed For Britt Davis' Auction On August 30.

One hundred Gulfport and Biloxi homes, commercial properties, beach front lots and many home sites will be sold at auction to the highest bidder at the Gulfport City Park at 6 o'clock Monday night, August 30, Britt Davis, auctioneer who will hold the sale, announced this week.

Notices and descriptions already have been placed on the homes and other pieces of property to be sold. A unique feature of this sale will be that a reproduction of each piece of property to be auctioned will be shown on a screen set up in the park. This is to show the buyers just what is being offered, Mr. Davis said.

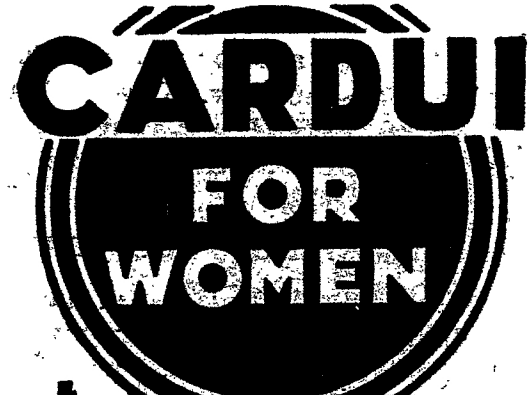

Britt Davis, who has conducted similar auctions all over the South during the last several years, will be remembered in this area for the sale he conducted in Gulfport two years ago for A. F. Rawlings, receiver of the First National Bank of Gulfport.

Every advertisement and promise in connection with that sale was fulfilled to the letter, and the same can be expected to prevail this time. Every piece of property advertised will be sold at auction to the highest bidder.

Among the more important properties to be sold is the Gulfport Bank Building and the building housing the Matthews' Buick Company. Terms for this auction will be one-fourth cash down payment and three years of the deferred payments to pay the balance. However, a 2 per cent discount will be allowed on the balance if it is paid at the time of purchase.

"For those who are looking for a chance to get a home on the beautiful Mississippi Gulf Coast, this is an opportunity of a lifetime," Mr. Davis said.

Anyone desiring a list of the properties to be auctioned, write Britt Davis, Gulfport.

When You are FAR AWAY— Go Home by Telephone

Your highway to vacationland may wind into the mountains, or slope down to the beach, but wherever you may go, voiceways of shining copper will link you to your home.

With these long distance telephone highways ready to carry your voice, many a problem that would otherwise disturb you can be quickly and easily settled. Before you leave, make sure of your reservations by telephoning ahead. After you arrive, let the "long distance" operator keep you in touch with your home and office. Simple advice, this, but it will add a world of pleasure to your trip.

You will be pleased also by the low cost of long distance telephone service. The long distance operator will be glad to give you information about the call you want to make.

GULF THEATER TO SHOW JEAN HARLOW SUCCESS PICTURE

"Hell's Angels," the Film That Made Her a Great Star For Sunday Only.

The management of the Gulf Theater, Waveland, takes pride in presenting, complying with numerous requests, the film that clinched success for the lamented Jean Harlow and made her a star of the first magnitude over night.

"Hell's Angels" will be presented one night only—Sunday, in addition to the usual comedy and news features.

Since Miss Harlow's death the film has been in demand over the country and notwithstanding that many copies are made from the original it is with difficulty requests of theater managers over the country can conveniently be complied with.

Many failed to see the picture and as many more will possibly wish to see it again, particular interest centered in the fact of the passing away of the star.

The usual price of admission will prevail and ample accommodation will take care of the crowds. Matinee performances begin at 3 o'clock Sunday afternoons.

Howard Hughes produced the picture with a cost of $2,000,000 with two years in the making. He selected Miss Harlow to play the feminine lead and thus she took the part and made it so well that she became a star over night. "Hell's Angels" is a great picture and one of the greatest pictures Miss Harlow ever made. So the management proudly presents this picture to the public for the many Jean Harlow fans and for the many requests.

Sunday, one day only. "Cafe Metropole," Twentieth Century-Fox's comedy romance with Tyrone Power, Loretta Young and Adolphe Menjou comes to the Gulf, Monday for one day only.

"Craig's Wife" with John Boles and Rosalind Russell comes to the Gulf Tuesday.

THE ECHO'S COOKING CLASS

THERE are not many of us who do not rejoice in an occasional chance to escape from walls, however pleasant the indoor festivities may be, to go picnicking. Long ago people took too much food on picnics; now they get variety in their picnic meals by planning them, each one different and simple.

Savory Chicken Stew

Cut a chicken of about 4 pounds weight in pieces and stew until tender. Remove the meat from the bones, breaking this meat up in pieces of uniform size. Now saute 2 sliced onions and 1 seeded green pepper in 3 tablespoons of fat in your kettle. When they are soft add a medium sized can of tomatoes and 3 cloves of garlic minced fine. Season to taste with salt, sugar, a pinch of powdered cloves and a bay leaf and add an 8-oz. can of mushrooms, liquor and all, and half of a No. 2 can of corn. While kernels are better. Next put in your pieces of chicken. Heat thoroughly, add more seasoning if necessary. Then off to the picnic with your kettle. It reheats perfectly.

Sardine Sandwiches

Place on a slice of whole wheat bread, a lettuce leaf, cover with layer of sardines, thin slices of tomatoes and a little mayonnaise.

Cucumber Circles

Lightly butter rounds of white bread, place a slice of crisp, cold cucumber on each and encircle with a border of mayonnaise. Sprinkle with paprika.

Egg Salad

Cook eggs hard, cool and remove shells. Chop fine, adding green pepper, pimento or pickle relish and enough mayonnaise or cooked salad dressing to moisten well.

Baked Bean Sandwich

Mash canned baked beans, season with chili sauce or tomato catsup and enough mayonnaise to make a good spreading consistency. Place between slices of Boston brown bread.

Shortcake Sandwiches

Baking powder biscuit dough is rolled thin and cut with large round cutter. Two rounds are baked together with a little butter between them. Separate the biscuits and fill

A Cemetery Where the Pall of Atmosphere and Gloom of Death Find No Lodgment

Bankrupt Graveyard and Field of Horrors Converted into a Place of Peace and Beauty—Where People Marry and Children are Baptized—Flowers, Statuary, Covered Marble Terraces and Stained Windows Depict Poetry in Interpretative Motif.

Recently I spent an afternoon visiting a cemetery that seemingly is not a cemetery, as strange as that may sound, but a place where the sting of death has been removed. As the poet challenged, O Death, where is thy sting?

Only Sunday two weeks ago I was visiting Forest Lawn Memorial Park at Glendale, near Los Angeles, Calif. It seemed more of a place of beauty and appeal than one of formal cut and pall; a place where the lawns were green and even-like, alike to one vast carpet that nature had carefully tacked. There was not a tombstone nor headboard visible. At no time and no where were there visible signs that here rest some sixty thousand bodies.

Aside from the great mausoleum, that rises to a height and dignity, as it recedes back into a mountain size, possibly an eight-story building, aside from ornamental towers of cathedral-like architecture, all bodies resting beneath the green sod are in graves marked with sunken bronze plates, flat and even with the surface. There are no grave mounds, no iron fences, no coping and no non de script attempts at lines of demarcation and possibly idea of alignment.

In one place, surrounded by an automobile drive, for one cannot walk across this vast park set aside for the departed, is a large plot of lawn, shaped heart-like. This is called and is reserved for burial of infants. No other children's bodies may be placed here, but only younger ones. Here I saw parents and family sitting on the green sward. It was a Sunday afternoon and they had come to be with their departed loved. It appeared anything but like a cemetery; a burial ground but a retreat where the memory of the departed would seem to abound all the more since it was the last resting place.

At Christmas time this tract of land is decorated with Christmas trees and each and every evening during the holiday season lighted with myriads of colored bulbs. There is nothing gaudy about this cemetery, if we may call it that. And there is nothing drab about it. Rembles more, and it is, in appearance of a vast park of many acres, planted with shrub and flowers that blossom in riot of color.

At one section, near one of the two chapels, is a pond of size. Here are many water fowl and ducks which seem to have overpopulated and interest and amuse the children that gather within the gates of the park. They feed the ducks with bread they seem to have carried for that purpose. The ducks are accustomed to this and wade out the water onto the shores and seek in eager effort for the food. This is quite a sight and many a kodak picture is snapped of children feeding at the pool.

Neither gaudy and far from drab, the place in many aspects is uplifting and sorrowing visitors gain consolation that the mortal remains of their departed rest not in a place with all the conventional aspect of death and graveyard pall.

Forest Lawn Memorial Park is where "statuary, flowers and music take the place of tombstones and where people come to be married and for baptisms as well as to perform the last rites over those who have died."

Hubert C. Eaton, a resident of Los Angeles, according to the published story, stood on the hillside of this place and "shuddered at the gloom and ghostliness of the bankrupt graveyard that lay before him. The story continues that a 'curious chance' led him to the spot and resulted in the creation of Forest Lawn.

We quote in part: His grandfather had been president of Madison University (now Colgate) in New York State, his father was head of the science department of a Missouri college, and with creamed ham or with asparagus tips and cheese sauce.

Lemon Tarts

3 eggs
1 cup sugar
2 tablespoons melted butter
Rind and juice of 1 lemon
Beat yolks, add sugar, lemon juice and rind, then melted butter. Fold in beaten whites. Pour into individual uncooked pastry shells. Bake in an oven 350 degrees until firm.

Potato Salad

8 medium Irish potatoes
2 hard boiled eggs, chopped
1/2 cup chopped celery
1 small onion, minced
Salt, pepper, paprika
Mix well with boiled dressing. Cut potatoes in cubes, add chopped eggs, chopped celery and minced onions. Season with salt, pepper and paprika.

Eaton himself was a successful metallurgist and chemist. Moving to California with the expectation of retiring, he became interested in real estate and banking. One morning in 1897 he woke up to discover that a country cemetery, on which his institution held a mortgage, had been foreclosed and he went to look at the property.

"From the hilltop where now is held the Easter service annually he surveyed the 55 acres below, which looked like nothing so much as an abandoned stoneyard. This, thought Eaton grimly, is the sacred ground of a so-called Christian people. Over every one of these graves have been uttered words of hope, the promise of eternal life. 'I go to prepare a place for you,' said the Founder of Christianity when He knew that in a few hours He was to die. 'Be of good cheer.' Where was any sign of faith here? The rotting trees, the unkempt lawn, the gloomy monuments of all shapes and sizes—everything spoke of Death.

"Arriving home Eaton wrote down his 'Builders' Creed,' resolving to make over this forlorn place of the dead:

"I believe in a Happy Eternal Life.

"I therefore know the cemeteries of today are wrong because they depict the end, not a beginning. I shall endeavor to build Forest Lawn as unlike other cemeteries as sunshine is unlike Death. . . .

And how well he succeeded is best attested to by those who visit. A trip to Los Angeles is not complete as a sight-seeing tour and visiting the unusual and beautiful "Forest Lawn Memorial Park" is included in the itinerary.

Eaton, after acquiring the original cemetery, gained permission to remove the headboards and head stones and the whatnot that go to make a bedlam-like cemetery. This permission was granted and flat bronze plates were inserted in the lawn and all grave-mounds leveled.

He soon acquired 150 acres, engaged the best of service in landscaping. Men with imagination, dreams and who knew how were put to work. Result was good taste and had predominated throughout and a new ideal in the world of cemeteries had been created. The horror of the conventional graveyard had been removed and in its stead music, flowers, statuary in bronze and marble were substituted instead.

I attempted to visit the immense stained glass window which brooks one end of the marble Memorial Terrace in the mausoleum, but was informed that tickets had been issued as far as a head as the latter part of August. So many at one time a day may enter and view the recreation of Leonard's Last Supper in stained glass, made by the last survivor of the Italian artist. I had seen it on a former visit and it is well worthy of study and to view a second time. The immense picture in glass of color is without equal. Costs a fortune and is a veritable work of art.

Throughout the great mausoleum are replicas of statuary in marble from the Old World, the original work of masters. Permission was given for the first time, to reproduce in Carara stone from the original Michelangelo's huge "Moses." The church of St. Peter in Chains, in Rome, was closed by official order while the sculptors made their measurements. Other famous objects were copied in marble and today Forest Lawn cemetery is the only place in the world, it is said, where all these masterpieces may be seen together.

Stained windows do not represent biblical scenes, but rather pictures from famous poems, Tennyson, Bacon, Shakespeare, etc., are pictured. Verses from their poems are etched in marble and above pictured in stained glass. For instance, one scene depicts Tennyson's brook—that runs on forever. And so on. Pictures in stained glass and poems in marble. Imagine the combination.

The two churches, mortuary chapels to the world, but non-sectarian places of beauty where thousands are married and as many christened. I glanced through the record book, a huge volume and read names of people prominent in the world who had married there.

One of these structures is a replica of the church at Stoke Poges and a reconstruction of Annie Laurie's place of worship at Glencairn in Dumfriesshire, and is known in Forest Lawn as "The Little Church of the Flowers." Here set aside and part of the church, all under one roof, is a wide bed of flowering plants, running parallel with the building, and where flowers blossom all the year, colored in subdued tones with a glass roof of amber color. The other church is "The Wee Kirk o' the Heather." Here, too are performed every ceremony—from the cradle to the grave. Surroundings are in exquisite taste, shrubs, flowers, statuary, bronze works and the all with an atmosphere of restful beauty.

I stood there awed by the beauty and especially of the care given the place. Then thinking back home, and to thousands of other cemeteries over the country. I thought of the high weeds, the apparently neglected resting places of our loved ones. The grass covered paths and broken fences; gates rusted and gone from their hinges and the sad scene which seemingly said, what a pity? How soon some forget.

War Veterans, Immediate Past State Commander Traub, a Spanish American veteran, reports that the effect of the convention is largely attended and the city of Columbus and its people are making it one of the most interesting and delightful affairs, combining business sessions with a good many outings and other social affairs.

Mr. and Mrs. H. C. Evans, residents of Rayne, have returned to their home in the rich rice section of Louisiana, after spending a week visiting Bay St. Louis, house guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Grevenberg, the latter Mrs. Evans' aunt. While here Mrs. Evans was the recipient of a number of informal afternoon parties.

Mrs. R. W. Taylor and sons and daughter are out from New Orleans for the month of August and occupying one of the cottages-by-the-sea over at Henderson Point, on Bay St. Louis. Messrs. Bob Wesley and Tom Taylor have as their guests (thoroughly informal and collegiate) a number of their class mates from Loyola University.

Mrs. Margot Ingles, valued attaché of the Ben Beekman's Store office at New Orleans, is spending her vacation at her own cottage in Dunbar avenue, opposite St. Joseph's chapel. Mrs. Ingles is one of the enthusiastic boosters for the Bay section and a frequent week-end visitor, substantiating her faith in this section by becoming a property owner.

Mr. and Mrs. E. V. Richards, who have been spending the major portion of summer at "Elmwood" manor, on North Beach, returned to New Orleans the early part of the week, accompanied by their younger children. Their daughter, Louella, accompanied by three brothers, returned to New Orleans Sunday from a tour of continental Europe.

Misses Margaret and Martha Loog the lovely twin daughters of Mrs. Robert Loog are here visiting their aunts, Misses Ruth and Irene Cazeneuve, at the Cazeneuve home in Main street. Mrs. Loog was formerly Miss Mabel Cazeneuve—one of the daughters of the late Mr. and Mrs. Joseph P. Cazeneuve. She has resided continually in New Orleans since her marriage. Two of her fine sons hold responsible positions in that city.

During the absence of the proprietor and manager of the "Kenney Pecan Grove" gifts and sweet shop, Mrs. L. S. Elliott is in charge of the business and guiding its destinies. While East Mrs. Kenney plans to buy quite a large and varied stock of distinctive novelties and gifts for the shop in anticipation of the Mississippi Gulf Coast tourist trade.

A group of girls enjoyed a picnic last Wednesday at Henderson Point on the waters of Bay St. Louis, and report a day of thorough enjoyment. Participating in this all-day outing were Misses Alice and Bary Benvenuti, Ida, Rose and Eunice Tudury, Helen Arnold, Angeline Bourgeois, Katherine Churchill, the latter of New Orleans, and their chaperones.

Miss Jeanne O'Reilly returned to her home in New Orleans Friday after spending several weeks here, guest of Hotel Reed. While on the Coast Miss O'Reilly was the recipient of flattering social attentions at adjoining coast towns where a number of her New Orleans friends are summering. Miss O'Reilly has long been associated with the New Orleans public schools and enjoys an enviable reputation as a teacher.

Mr. and Mrs. Leo E. Kenney and young daughter, Miss Irma May Kenney, left from New Orleans Saturday afternoon on board the S. S. Dixie for New York City, a number of friends at the docks to wish them bon voyage and God speed. They will visit the metropolis and its various centers of music and drama, but go principally to visit Mr. Kenney's mother and her family who reside at Plainfield, N. J.

Mrs. Simon Necaise, Jr. and Miss Mary Miccio spent the week-end in New Orleans, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Maunus. A party was given in honor of her sister, Mrs. Charles Triana and daughters, Larraene, Dolores and sons, Charles and Carl Triana from Chicago, and Miss Mercedes Caliva and Mr. Malcolm Royle of New Orleans.

Mrs. W. J. Gex, Sr., accompanied by her daughters, Mrs. Wallace Catchings and Miss Ethel H. Gex left during the latter part of last week for a stay in the "Land of the Sky," with Asheville, N. C., as their main objective, where they are registered at the Grove Park Inn, and making their journey by auto in order to have their car with them in the country, where mountain beauty and scenic highways abound.

Mr. Paul Mollere, who left here some few months ago to visit relatives in and near Los Angeles, California, returned home Friday morning—back home. He was accompanied by his son, Mr. Louis Mollere, who is on vacation, and made the trip to visit home and some of his other years. Young Mr. Mollere returned to his home in California the next day, accompanied by his sister, Mrs. Herman Finhold, residing at Pass Christian, who will visit relatives in the Golden State and return home later in the season by rail.

FEDERAL POWER PROJECT HEADS VISIT.

S. P. Leverette and T. C. Farrell, representing the Finance and Accounting section of the Federal Electrification Authority at Washington were in Bay St. Louis during the week. The purpose of their visit was to give the officers and attorney of the Hancock Electric Power Association instructions as to the prescribed manner of financing and book-keeping of the association.

The gentlemen expressed themselves highly impressed with the local outlook for the success of the service and were satisfied with the local organization.

Contractor Ed. Osborn has a force of workmen engaged in remodeling the one-story frame dwelling recently purchased by Mrs. John H. Weston from Mrs. Adam Lorch in Carroll avenue, near corner beach boulevard, preparing the premises for her early occupancy. The work calls for extensive treatment inasmuch the interior will be not only renovated but remodeled to change the floor plan with additional inclusions. When finished the property will be in keeping with type of others in that vicinity.

H. D. Kirkpatrick, resident plant man for the Southern Bell Telephone Company, returned home this week from a two-week vacation, during which time he toured a greater part of the State by motor, accompanied by Mrs. Kirkpatrick and children. The high spot of the vacation trip was a visit to relatives at Clarksdale in the Delta section. Mr. Kirkpatrick reported economic conditions over the State favorable and said cotton crop was the biggest and best looking yet with the outlook of 10 and 12-cent sales was most encouraging. This is a definite indication, said he, of returning prosperity to the planters and lots of new money in the State.
